Carrie Flint joins Arapahoe County Volunteer Connections

Flint to oversee volunteer program that generates over $700K in budget relief

Littleton, Colo. – Arapahoe County has hired Carrie Flint to be its Volunteer Coordinator in the Community Resources Department, where her primary responsibility will be to develop new service opportunities within county government and to recruit volunteers from the community.

Flint will oversee the Volunteer Connections program, which connects citizens to all aspects of county government through volunteering. She will be in charge of building volunteer recruitment, forms and policies, orientation and training sessions and a database to track more than 37,000 service hours each year. These hours translate to more than $700,000 in budget relief for Arapahoe County, as determined by local average wage statistics. Flint also will take the reins on recruitment and management of more than 600 volunteers at the Arapahoe County Fair.

Flint has spent the past nine years managing event logistics and volunteers for non-profit organizations, including the Allied Jewish Federation's annual telethon and the Children's Hospital Colorado Foundation's Courage Classic benefit bicycle ride.

"Carrie has experience in managing large volunteer events and will be a tremendous asset to Arapahoe County as we engage our volunteers to support county offices and major events," said Community Resources Director Don Klemme.

To learn about volunteer opportunities with Arapahoe County, please contact Flint at 303-738-7938 or visit www.co.arapahoe.co.us and click on "Services" and then "Volunteer Opportunities."
